Citizens Meet and Discuss Welfare of Town

Fifteen citizens attended the meeting in N. E. Stuart's office on Monday evening to organize for a clean, healthy, progressive and attractive Carlstadt. N. E. Stuart, who would have presided, was called away by telegram on Monday afternoon. E. H. Smith was appointed chairman and George Thompson secretary for the meeting.

R. H. Thornton was invited by the chairman to open the discussion and gave a telling word piece on some vital needs of the town if the health of the citizens was not to be imperiled during the spring and summer months. He said that the enforcement of the pound law was absolutely necessary; that the cattle and pigs must be kept off the streets, and attention paid to the sloughs about town lest they become disease spreaders. The needs of the town along other lines was dealt with by Mr. Thornton. He emphasized the need of a town constable.

Following the meeting resolved itself into a free-all discussion. F. E. Cysdale, W. D. Mackay, H. B. Brigham, Herbert Johnson, Geo. Thompson, E. C. Hegy and others making suggestions. Mr. Cysdale dealt chiefly on the need of a constable to keep the streets free of cattle. W. D. Mackay made the suggestion that a clean-up day be proclaimed; that residents be informed that if they cleaned up their yards that the town draymen would call in the afternoon of the day and carry the litter away.

Interchanges between a few present became almost bitter.

Upon motion, Messrs R. H. Thornton and W. L. Stevens were appointed to meet town council on Monday evening next and lay before that body the wishes of the meeting re: cleaning up the village appointing a constable and enforcing the pound law.

Newspaper readers should not forget that it is the revenues derived from advertising that makes it possible for them to receive a newspaper regularly for fifty-two weeks in the year at a nominal sum—not much more than the cost of the paper on which it is printed. The better the financial position of the newspaper, the better its reading value will be. The advertiser does not charge any more for his goods than the non-advertiser—more frequently he charges less—and therefore he should have the support of newspaper readers—Exchange.

MAC'S CORNER

Well let us change the subject this week and talk of something that the whole world is talking about.

PROHIBITION

Russia with her 10,000,000 soldiers in the war says: that by prohibition, in 10 years she will save enough lives to equal the lives lost in battle.

Archbishop Ireland, the famous Roman Catholic, of St. Paul, said of social crime to-day: that 75 per cent is caused by drink, and 80 per cent of the poverty.

The saloon is the cause of all villainies. It is worse than war there or pestilence. And now, when the Farmers' Union have put Direct Legislation on the statute, and by that means have an opportunity to vote this curse of whiskey out of the country. It is no time to be neutral. Either say: I am in favor of whiskey, even though it causes poverty, 60 per cent of the insane asylums; or else say: you can depend on my vote for prohibition.

A Birthday

THE Gleichen Call is celebrating its eighth birthday. In the words of President Wilson to the Emperor of Germany: "We offer felicitations."

Citizen's Meeting

MONDAY night's meeting of citizens, should result in a forward move for Carlstadt; at least, along the lines of a clean, healthful town. Unfortunately, the discussion bordered on acrimonious lines at times; but why not get down to brass tacks, and have matters threshed out once and for all. The citizens have every confidence in this year's council, and the News is sure that the deputation that will meet the council on Monday evening holds no grudge or grouse, but will appear only to suggest a sane policy for a clean Carlstadt. May good result!

Names

THE Bassano Mail attempts to label a young upstart lawyer in that town named Mayor: "Honest John." It's enough to begin calling a man names after he gets into parliament.

One Way

ONE way to stop the war. "Let Germany capture 2,000,000 Russians and feed them for three or four weeks. This might be a little tough on the Russians; but think of the lives it would save."

Brutus

Rov Garbutt and Alec Dewar were in Suffield Friday for feed oats.

I. C. Jones was a Carlstadt visitor Saturday.

The farmers of this district are preparing for a crop of mosquitoes this year that will beat all records in Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hellevang and family called Boyd Bros. Sunday. Elwin Potter was visiting Brutus friends last week.

Sam Hellevang is digging a well for Wesley McEwen.

Fred Whitehead has resigned his position as manager of the Colville ranch, he intends to spend the summer on his farm near Brutus.

Alf Truman and Allen Biree, of Tripola, attended the Horse-traders Convention at Brutus last week.

W. McEwen, G. Hayes, and R. Garbutt called on S. Boyd Sunday evening. Sam reports that his phonograph has a hot box.

Mr. Thomas, of Blue Grass, and J. J. Lemna, of Tripola, organized a U. F. A. local at Bingleville last week. Twenty-two husky red hunters joined and it was decided to send immediately for a car of Copenhagen snuff.

Floyd Derrick returned last week to his homestead at Bingleville.

Mr. Clawson, of Bingleville, was a Carlstadt visitor Monday.

George Whitehead was visiting Tripola friends Sunday and Monday.

Some of the farmers in the district of Tripola believe that it pays to take good care of their live stock. One day last week, a prominent farmer from that district called on Vance Campbell, and was asked to stay till the next day. He accepted the invitation, but said that he would have to go home and feed his stock first. So home he went; attended to his chores, then returned to Vance's. He had been home to feed his cat.

A. Truman, reeve of King municipality, called on Mayor Garbutt Monday.

Tide Lake

The dance at Clint Adams' Friday night was well attended, and the most enjoyable time was spent. The music was furnished by Messrs Ray Cameron, Edwin Hunter, Hans Mulney and John Geller; and it was most excellent. Soon after luncheon and refreshments were served R. Clark became very ill and it was thought that he would have to be taken home. But Dr. James McCall the Tide Lake specialist, was present, and in a few minutes after he had applied his new discovery and remedy, Rueben was singing Alberta's fairest with perfect ease and grace, and with a tone of voice, which denoted much culture, was singing, "It's a long way to Tippecanoe." "It's a long way to Tippecanoe." "It's a long way to Tippecanoe." "It's a long way to Tippecanoe."

The snow is practically all gone around Tide Lake. Comparing it with the country on all sides which is still heavily-laden with snow, one would think it was the garden of Eden.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the local U. F. A. was held Saturday night. However, the crowd was somewhat smaller than common, which was due, perhaps, to the fact that two nights in succession don't agree with one. The debate on "Consolidated schools as rural schools" was hotly contested on both sides, and resulted in a vote of two for the affirmative, and one for the negative. The subject for Saturday, April 10th, is, Resolved: That women should have equal suffrage with men. Affirmative, E. E. Allen and John Hill; negative, R. Clark and Mr. Foxton. It was decided to serve lunch at this meeting and to invite the ladies.

Owing to the condition of the roads the farmers here were unable to do much hauling lately.

WHERE PEOPLE CAN GIVE AID

Inlet on "Made-in-Canada" Goods
Retailer and Wholesaler Will Soon Fall in Line

Too often in the past the wholesalers and retailers of Canada have openly opposed the "Made-in-Canada" movement. Where they have not opposed it they have damned it with faint praise. Their motives in so doing are purely selfish. Very often to secure a share of Canada's trade the foreign manufacturer quotes particularly attractive prices to the dealer, prices which enable both wholesaler and retailer to extract a greater profit than usual from the sale of these goods. The foreign manufacturer is able to do this because the Canadian market is only a small part of his total market, and he can easily sell at a low profit or even at cost in other words "dump" in this small market in order to secure control of the trade, whereas the Canadian manufacturer, for whom Canada is the whole market, cannot afford to do business at a loss to meet the foreigner's prices. This explains in great measure why wholesaler and retailer have not got behind the "Made-in-Canada" movement until very recently.

The Toronto "Globe," in an article on the "Made-in-Canada" question the other day, explains the reason for the "Made-in-Canada" campaign going direct to the people in the ground. Under the heading "Home Production or Bankruptcy," the "Globe" says: "The people in the end can force the stockholder or the dealer to give them the Canadian-made article. But he should see, especially in the light of present conditions, why he should encourage home production without being forced to do so. The war broke out our exports as well as our imports have decreased with serious rapidity, and the only alternatives that confront Canada, in the face of such critical trade conditions, are increased production at home and a larger volume of business in the home markets, or bankruptcy. If Canadian-made goods are not sold in greater volume the merchant and the whole-sale dealer must inevitably suffer, simply because a very large number of their present customers, people who work in factories and who are dependent on factories, will be forced out of employment. Furthermore, regarded from a national point of view, the 'Made-in-Canada' movement, which means increased production in all departments at home, is the only method of raising the one hundred and fifty million of interest which is due each year on the country's indebtedness."

MERCHANTS CAN HELP

Points For Retailer to Bear in Mind in His Purchases

A man out of a job, or only partially employed, is a poor customer. You much prefer, don't you, to deal with customers whom you know are earning good wages, in thriving local industries? Their credit is good—they pay their bills!

Did it ever occur to you that, out of every dollar's worth of Canadian-made goods you buy, from 25 to 50 cents goes to the Canadian workman living in Toronto or in some other Canadian city, and enables him to buy from 25 to 50 cents' worth more goods from his tradesman?

Did it ever occur to you that, out of every dollar's worth of foreign-made goods you sell, about 75 cents or more disappears from Canada for ever, and the buying capacity of the Canadian workman is correspondingly reduced? The wages that should be in his pocket have been paid to the foreign workman.

In 1913, over $62,000,000 of Canadian money was spent for foreign goods. Think of it—six hundred and twenty-two millions! Half of these goods could have been made in Canada, and Canadian workmen and Canadian money would have been saved. There would have been $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 better off than they are to-day.

Nothing succeeds like success! The "Made-in-Canada" appeal has been an all-pervading during the past few months that it has stirred up criticism here and there among some Canadians. This is perhaps the best tribute possible to the compelling force of the movement, which has swept over Canada since the war began. If the propaganda for the purchase of products made by Canadian workmen in Canadian factories was lacking in strength or logic, if it was not meeting with a ready response from the great majority of Canadian consumers, no one would pay attention to it. It would perish of neglect. It becomes interesting, therefore, to note some of the isolated objections that have been raised against it.

Not a Huge Monster

The commonest criticism running through everything like this: That the purchaser who buys a foreign-made article pays a certain sum of money in the form of customs duties on it. This, it is said, is a burden on the Treasury, helps run the country into the red, helps keep our soldiers on the firing line. Whereas if the purchaser buys a home-made article, the money flows into the National Treasury, according to the theory of the critics. The trouble corresponding to the custom duties is paid by the manufacturer in the form of increased profits. Those who take this position cannot see beyond the manufacturer's pocket. That is their difficulty. To them the captain of industry is an ocean liner. They regard him as a huge monster, leeching out of every dollar that the Canadian consumer has in his pocket, and thinking nothing of the welfare of Canada or her citizens as a whole.

The Case of Plowse

One Western farmer has written a letter to a prominent Western farmer, and the latter has written back. The American-made plow became the topic of it and it went to the Government. The farmer who wrote the letter said that the thousands of workmen or so who would be employed in the Canadian plow company, whose goods he refused to buy, would be asked: 'Do they do nothing for Canada? Are they of no value to the community? Do they not contribute to the raising their wages? Are they not contributing through their daily purchases just as large a portion of our money as we do?' The farmer who wrote the letter said that in the transaction in question this particular farmer paid, he will say, $100 for a plow. He got it in the form of data. A Canadian plow factory the writer has in mind in a Western Ontario town would probably employ 1,000 men. If the average wage would be $60 per month, or $720 per year. Every dollar of this income spent for food, clothing, house furnishings, etc., some of which will necessarily have to be imported, and some of which will be paid for by the average employee pays 2 per cent of his income out of this income spent. If the average man in round numbers in a year, we have a contribution from the employees of this factory amount of $15,000 to the United States.

A Bad Example

If every farmer followed the example of our correspondent and bought a plow made in United States there would be no plow factories in Canada, and not only the $15,000,000 contributed to the national revenue by this one firm's employees would be lost, but also thousands of dollars by the employees of other plow and implement factories, which would be forced to close down through lack of business. And what of the tradesmen who supply the Canadians with the necessities of life, and the mechanics who built their homes; paved their streets and operated their transportation systems? What of the doctors, lawyers, school teachers and clergymen who minister to their social and spiritual needs.

It is a peculiar strain of patriotism that would compel a Canadian today to send his money to a foreign country for a foreign product, to build foreign workshops, to develop foreign towns and cities, and increase prosperity in a foreign country at the expense of his fellow Canadians who are suffering from lack of employment, when there are bread lines in some of our cities, and when we are straining our national resources as never before to keep the wheels of industry turning and the Ship of State on an even keel. This is not a time for individual choice and action. It is a time for national co-operation. Co-operation between the Canadian pulp factories, between the Canadian pulp workers and the Canadian pulp buyers. Co-operation.
